Candidates are required to listen carefully and answer questions that test their comprehension, note-taking ability, and inference skills.

Key features include:

- Multiple audio segments with varying lengths (usually between 2 to 5 minutes).
- Question types that range from multiple-choice and true/false to short-answer formats.
- Emphasis on understanding main ideas, supporting details, speaker attitudes, and implied meanings.

Skills Tested in the Listening Section

The listening component evaluates several interconnected skills:

- Main idea identification: grasping the primary point of a lecture or conversation.
- Detail comprehension: remembering specific facts, dates, names, or concepts.
- Inference skills: deducing meaning beyond what is explicitly stated.
