golden ticket template: Sport and Entrepreneurship Dilwyn Porter, Wray Vamplew, 2020-05-21 Sport and Entrepreneurship combines perspectives derived from business history and sports history, focusing on the important but relatively unexplored relationship of entrepreneurship and sport. This important volume offers clearer definitions of both sports products and sports entrepreneurship, gives due regard to social entrepreneurs, and assesses the continuing relevance of Hardy's pioneering study from the 1980s. Hardy himself provides an introduction to the volume, and chapters by Wray Vamplew and Dilwyn Porter supply an overarching theoretical framework, offering new ways of identifying and describing sports-related entrepreneurial activity. Each chapter explores a particular case study, focusing on specific examples of entrepreneurship as it has been practised in a variety of sporting contexts from the nineteenth to the early twenty-first centuries, ranging from 19th century equestrianism, to 20th century ice hockey, and football in the 21st century and covering entrepreneurship in North America, Europe and the United Kingdom. Each, in its own way, adds depth and complexity to the discussion. Bridging the gap between sports history and business history, too often seen as separate spheres, Sport and Entrepreneurship will be of great interest to scholars of sport history, business and sport, business history, and entrepreneurship. The chapters were originally published as a special issue of The International Journal of the History of Sport.

golden ticket template: Higher Expectations Roberta Hawkins, Leslie Kern, Higher Expectations is a practical guide to navigating academia for people who want to improve their own day-to-day work lives and create better conditions for everyone. Universities are broken: they're built on systems that are discriminatory, hierarchical, and individualistic. This hurts the people that work and learn in them and limits the potential for universities to contribute to a better world. But we can raise our expectations. Hawkins and Kern envision a university transformed by collaboration, care, equity, justice, and multiple knowledges. Drawing on real-world, international examples where people and institutions are already doing things in new ways, Higher Expectations offers concrete advice on how to make these transformations real. It covers many areas of academic life including course design, conferencing, administration, research teams, managing workloads and more. Designed for faculty, graduate students, postdoctoral researchers, and other scholars, Higher Expectations delivers hope and practical actions you can take to start making change now. It is a must-have for everyone working in academia today.

golden ticket template: Bigfoot: The Minnesota Scene Mike Quast, 2025-09-25 What Lurks in the Land of 10,000 Lakes? When you think of Bigfoot territory, the Pacific Northwest likely comes to mind—not the frigid forests of Minnesota. Yet veteran researcher Mike Quast's groundbreaking work reveals a startling truth: this Midwestern state harbors one of America's most active and mysterious Sasquatch populations. Drawing from nearly four decades of personal investigation, Quast pulls back the curtain on Minnesota's thriving Bigfoot research community and the extraordinary encounters that fuel their search. What happens when an all-female psychic team ventures where only male researchers have gone before? Why has a small town of just 400 people declared itself Home of Bigfoot? And what explains the property near Blackduck where witnesses report not just sightings, but phenomena that challenge our understanding of reality itself? Through intimate conversations with diverse researchers—from old-school trackers to former television producers with cutting-edge technology—Quast navigates the growing divide between those who believe these creatures are undiscovered primates and others convinced they possess abilities that defy conventional science. In the silent forests of northern Minnesota, where witnesses report ten-foot shadows moving between trees and mysterious calls echoing across frozen lakes, something continues to elude capture. Something that leaves enormous footprints that sometimes end in midstride. Something that seems to know when it's being watched—and sometimes watches back. Bigfoot: The Minnesota Scene doesn't just present evidence; it invites you into the woods alongside those dedicated few who have glimpsed what most will never see. Are you ready to look? golden ticket template: Honeybees and Frenemies Kristi Wientge, 2019-06-04 Twelve-year-old Flor faces a bittersweet summer with a pageant, a frenemy, and a hive full of honey in this "sweet and satisfying read about friendship, sisterhood, and change" (Kirkus Reviews). It's the summer before eighth grade and Flor is stuck at home and working at her family's mattress store, while her best friend goes off to band camp (probably to make new friends). It becomes even worse when she's asked to compete in the local honey pageant. This means Flor has to spend the summer practicing her talent (recorder) and volunteering (helping a recluse bee-keeper) with Candice, her former friend who's still bitter about losing the pageant crown to Flor when they were in second grade. And she can't say no. Then there's the possibility that Flor and her family are leaving to move in with her mom's family in New Jersey. And with how much her mom and dad have been fighting lately, is it possible that her dad may not join them? Flor can't let that happen. She has a lot of work to do.
