What Is the Redken Shades EQ Color Chart?

Overview of Shades EQ Line

Redken's Shades EQ line is a demi-permanent hair color treatment known for its conditioning properties, shine enhancement, and natural-looking results. It is a versatile toning system that allows stylists to create a wide array of shades—from subtle glosses to bold hues.

The color chart for Shades EQ is a detailed guide that displays all available shades, their corresponding codes, and descriptions. The 2022 PDF version is an updated document that reflects the latest formulations, new shades, and modifications made by Redken to improve color performance and client satisfaction.

Why Use the PDF Version?

Having the PDF version of the Shades EQ color chart offers several advantages:

- Easy access and portability—can be stored on devices or printed.
- Clear, high-resolution images of shades for accurate reference.
- Up-to-date information reflecting the latest shade additions in 2022.
- Quick lookup of shade codes and descriptions during consultations or sessions.

Features of the Redken Shades EQ Color Chart 2022 PDF

Comprehensive Shade Categories

The 2022 PDF chart categorizes Shades EQ into various groups based on their undertones and purposes:

- Clear: Used for glossing, diluting other shades, or creating custom tones.
- Gold Series: Warm, golden hues perfect for warm blondes and enhancing natural warmth.
- Red Series: Rich red shades for vibrant, fiery looks.
- Copper Series: Bright copper tones suitable for warm, fiery styles.
- Violet Series: Cool purple shades ideal for toning blondes and reducing brassiness.
- Ash Series: Cool, muted shades for neutralizing warm tones.
- Natural Series: Neutral shades that blend seamlessly with natural hair colors.
- Special Effects and Creative Shades: Limited edition or trend-focused shades for avant-garde looks.

Shade Codes and Descriptions

Each shade in the chart is assigned a unique code (e.g., 7NB, 9V, 8RG) that helps stylists quickly identify the desired tone. The descriptions provide insights into the shade's undertones, intensity, and recommended uses.

For example:

- 7NA: Light Natural Ash—neutral, subdued blonde tone.
- 8RV: Light Red Violet—vibrant reddish-purple for exciting accents.
- 6G: Dark Gold—deep warm gold for darker blondes or brunettes.

Formulation Tips and Mixing Ratios

The PDF also often includes guidance on mixing ratios, especially when diluting shades with Clear or combining multiple shades to customize results. This flexibility allows for tailored color outcomes that suit individual client needs.

How to Use the Redken Shades EQ Color Chart 2022 PDF Effectively

Step-by-Step Guide to Selecting Shades

1. Determine the Client's Natural or Desired Hair Color: Assess the current hair base and the target shade.
2. Identify the Undertones: Decide whether the client needs warm, cool, or neutral tones.
3. Use the Chart to Find Suitable Shades: Locate shades within the appropriate category that match the desired outcome.
4. Note the Shade Code: Record the code for quick reference during formulation.
5. Consider Mixing Options: Decide if blending shades or diluting with Clear is necessary for achieving the perfect tone.

Practical Tips for Color Formulation

- Use the shade codes to accurately mix formulas.
- For subtle toning, dilute shades with Clear to create glosses or semi-transparent effects.
- For vibrant results, apply shades directly without dilution.
- Combine shades for custom hues—consult the chart for compatible combinations and ratios.
- Always perform a patch test or strand test before full application.

Benefits of Using the PDF Chart During Appointments

- Ensures consistency in color formulations.
- Saves time by quick reference.
- Facilitates clear communication with clients about expected results.
- Helps in troubleshooting or adjusting formulas on the spot.

Common Shade Categories and Their Uses

Blonde Shades

Blonde shades in the 2022 chart range from subtle, natural blondes to icy, platinum tones. They often include:

- Light Blonde (9V, 10A): For bright, natural blondes.
- Ash Blonde (9A, 8A): To neutralize brassiness.
- Golden Blonde (9G, 8G): To add warmth and shine.

Red and Copper Shades

Vibrant reds and coppers are popular for bold looks:

- True Red (6R, 7R): Bright, fiery reds.
- Copper (6RG, 7RG): Warm, luminous copper tones.
- Auburn (5RG, 6RG): Deep, rich red-copper shades.

Violet and Ash Tones

Used primarily for toning and neutralizing unwanted warm tones:

- Violet (9V, 8V): To counteract yellow tones in blondes.
- Ash (9A, 8A): To neutralize orange and red hues.
- Violet Ash (8VA): For cool, sophisticated tones.

Dark and Natural Shades

Ideal for brunettes and darker hair:

- Natural Brown (5N, 4N): Classic, versatile browns.
- Dark Ash Brown (4A): For a cooler, muted effect.
- Deep Black (1N): For intense, jet-black finishes.

Overview of the Redken Shades EQ Color Chart 2022 PDF

Structure of the Chart

The chart is typically organized into sections based on color families, which include:

- Blondes: Ash, beige, gold, and pastel tones
- Brunettes: Cool, warm, and neutral hues
- Red Tones: Copper, auburn, and vibrant reds
- Specialty Shades: Pastels, chromatics, and fashion-inspired shades

This categorization helps stylists quickly locate the desired hue and understand its relation to adjacent shades.

The chart also includes:

- Color Codes: Unique identifiers for each shade, facilitating precise ordering and formulation.
- Formulation Ratios: Recommended mix ratios for developer volumes (e.g., 10V, 20V, 30V, 40V).
- Intermixing Notes: Guidance on blending shades to achieve custom colors.

Visual Representation of Shades

One of the most useful features of the PDF chart is the high-quality color swatches. These provide a visual approximation of each shade, enabling stylists to:

- Match shades accurately to client hair
- Visualize potential results before application
- Identify subtle tonal differences (e.g., ash vs. beige blondes)

While digital images may not perfectly replicate every nuance, the high-resolution swatches are invaluable for planning.

Deep Dive into Color Families and Their 2022 Updates

Blonde Shades

The blonde section is the most expansive within the Shades EQ palette, reflecting current trends toward natural, icy, or warm blondes. The 2022 chart emphasizes:

- Ash Blonde Tones: For cooler, sophisticated looks
- Beige and Gold Blondes: Adding warmth and dimension
- Pastel and Fantasy Shades: Soft pinks, lavenders, and blues for creative styling

Recent updates include new formulations for icy blondes, featuring cooler undertones that cater to clients seeking a modern, polished look.

Brunette Shades

The brunette section offers a spectrum from cool espresso to warm caramel. In 2022, Redken introduced:

- Neutral Browns: Perfect for subtle, natural enhancements
- Rich Chocolate and Mahogany: For depth and vibrancy
- Cool Brunettes: To complement ash or platinum blondes

The chart also highlights intermixing options, allowing stylists to craft bespoke shades tailored to individual skin tones and preferences.

Red Shades

Red tones remain a popular choice for clients seeking bold, vibrant hair. The 2022 chart showcases:

- Copper and Auburns: Classic, energetic shades
- Vivid Reds: For fashion-forward or statement looks
- Warm Reds: To add richness and shine

Redken continues to expand its red palette, with formulations designed to maximize vibrancy and longevity.
