Fundamental Components of the Flex Offense

Player Positions and Movements

The flex offense typically involves five players arranged in specific positions:

- Post Players (Bigs): Usually positioned on the blocks, setting screens and scoring in the paint
- Perimeter Players (Guards and Wings): Handle ball movement, set screens, and take outside shots

Basic Player Alignment:

1. Point Guard (PG): Handles the ball and initiates the offense
2. Shooting Guard (SG): Positioned on the wing, ready to shoot or cut
3. Small Forward (SF): Positioned on the opposite wing
4. Power Forward (PF): On the weak-side block
5. Center (C): On the strong-side block

Core Movements:

- Cutter: Players move along predetermined paths to receive the ball or set screens
- Screen: Players set screens on defenders to free up teammates
- Flex Cut: A distinctive, backward “Z-shaped” cut, designed to shake defenders and create scoring opportunities
- Ball Reversal: Moving the ball from one side of the court to the other to reset the offense and find gaps

Screen and Cut Sequence

The offense relies heavily on a sequence of screens and cuts:

1. Flex Screen: The player on the weak side sets a flex screen for the cutter
2. Flex Cut: The cutter uses the screen to make a sharp cut along the baseline
3. Ball Reversal: After the cut, the ball is passed to the opposite side, restarting the sequence
4. Down Screen: Additional screens set to free shooters or create lanes
5. High Post Action: Occasionally, the offense involves the high post for passing options

Executing the Flex Offense: Strategic Principles

Spacing and Timing

Proper spacing is crucial for the flexibility and effectiveness of the offense:

- Players should maintain appropriate distance to prevent defensive help and to create passing lanes
- Timing of cuts and screens must be synchronized to maximize separation and scoring chances

Patience and Ball Movement

The offense emphasizes deliberate movement:

- Avoid rushing shots or passes
- Use ball reversals to force the defense to shift and open up gaps
- Encourage players to read the defense and make smart decisions

Reading the Defense

Players are trained to recognize defensive reactions:

- If defenders go under screens, shooters should take open three-pointers
- If defenders fight over screens, cutters can slip or use screens to exploit gaps
- Post players can face up or seal their defenders based on defensive positioning
