Navigating this wealth of new knowledge in psychotraumatology, as well as keeping track of the various posttraumatic symptoms and disorders that can present in clients, can be challenging. The brilliantly structured, full-color navigation charts in this volume help both early career and experienced professionals to keep track of the variety of diagnostic options to be considered or excluded while not overlooking anything. After an introduction to the trauma-dissociation axis model, the five axes are then presented in detail, including case examples, differential diagnoses, recommendations, decision paths, and questionnaires: - Axis I: Personality disorders (including, borderline) - Axis II: Disorders specifically associated with stress (including, PTSD, CPTSD, and prolonged grief disorder) - Axis III: Structural dissociation of the personality (dissociative and partial dissociative identity disorder) - Axis IV: Other dissociative disorders (dissociative neurological symptom disorder, depersonalization-derealization disorder, dissociative amnesia) - Axis V: Comorbid disorders The last two chapters provide an overview of the special diagnostic aspects of reporting to law enforcement agencies and a catalog of questions collated by the author to help guide diagnosis and inform treatment. This volume is an exceptional resource for psychiatrists, clinical psychologists, psychotherapists, and other mental health professionals who work with traumatized individuals.

Applying an anti-oppressive, liberatory social justice lens to working with Black, Indigenous, People of Color (BIPOC) and other at-risk populations, the book provides contemporary theoretical frameworks and practice approaches, rich clinical examples, and practice wisdom from expert agency-based social work clinicians working in the dominant fields of practice: child welfare, education, health, mental health, youth justice, carceral systems, substance use, intimate partner violence, racial and other traumas, palliative care, world of work, and older adults. This is the essential guide for beginning social workers and supervisors practicing in diverse organizational settings. The book provides both an overview of practice in the aforementioned areas, as well as an in-depth look at intersubjective practice with the specific population. Each clinical chapter provides: the history of social work in the practice setting; an overview of the current research in the area; the predominant evidence-based practice approach(es) being used; the role(s) of the social worker in the specific setting and grounded in anti-oppressive and ethical clinical practice; an extensive case example and discussion, inclusive of the clinician's reflections and countertransference reactions; practice and supervisory wisdom offered by the authors as to how to negotiate the organizational system to best benefit their clients; evolving nature and future direction of the practice area; and reflection questions for students, instructors, and beginning clinicians. Reframing Social Work with an Anti-Oppressive Lens is primarily intended for social work students as well as beginning social workers and their supervisors who could also benefit from its contents. Chapters can readily be assigned in placement settings such that the supervisor-supervisee dyad can reflect on the core aspects of social work practice within their agency context.
