What Are Ask and It Is Given Cards?

Ask and it is given cards are a set of affirmation or visualization cards based on the principles of the Law of Attraction, particularly inspired by Esther and Jerry Hicks' teachings. These cards are designed to help individuals focus on positive thoughts, set intentions, and manifest their desires more effectively. Unlike traditional affirmation cards, ask and it is given cards often include prompts, questions, or statements that guide you to align your emotions and beliefs with your goals.

- Guided prompts: Questions or statements that encourage reflection and positive focus.
- Visual appeal: Bright, inspiring images that evoke feelings of abundance, peace, or joy.

These cards serve as a daily reminder to stay aligned with your desires and to shift your vibration towards positivity and abundance.

How Do Ask and It Is Given Cards Work?

Understanding the mechanics behind ask and it is given cards is crucial to utilizing them effectively. They are rooted in the Law of Attraction, which states that like attracts like—meaning your thoughts and feelings create your reality.

The Science of Manifestation and the Role of These Cards

While the scientific community may debate the specifics of manifestation, many believers find that consciously focusing on positive thoughts and feelings can improve their outlook and attract favorable circumstances. Ask and it is given cards act as catalysts for this process by:

- Reinforcing positive beliefs: Repeatedly exposing yourself to affirmations and uplifting images helps embed these beliefs into your subconscious.
- Shifting emotional states: Prompts encourage you to focus on feelings of abundance, gratitude, and joy, elevating your vibration.
- Clarifying desires: The prompts help you articulate what you truly want, making your intentions more specific and powerful.

Practical Application: Using the Cards

To get the most out of ask and it is given cards, follow these simple steps:

1. Set a dedicated time: Daily practice is most effective—morning, evening, or any quiet moment.
2. Shuffle and select a card: Trust your intuition to pick a card that resonates.

4. Mindfulness and Self-Reflection

Using these cards encourages mindfulness, allowing you to pause and reflect on your desires and beliefs. This self-awareness facilitates personal growth and spiritual development.

No, I just wondered if you did, Annette answered abruptly. Hey, let's swing. ask and it is given cards: An Introduction to Logic and Scientific Method Morris F. Cohen, 2011-03-23 Though formal logic has in recent times been the object of radical and spirited attacks from many and diverse quarters, it continues, and will probably long continue, to be one of the most frequently given courses in colleges and universities here and abroad. Nor need this be surprising when we reflect that the most serious of the charges against formal logic, those against the syllogism, are as old as Aristotle, who seems to have been fully aware of them. But while the realm of logic seems perfectly safe against the attacks from without, there is a good deal of unhappy confusion within. Though the content of almost all logic books follows (even in many of the illustrations) the standard set by Aristotle's Organon—terms, propositions, syllogisms and allied forms of inference, scientific method, probability and fallacies—there is a bewildering Babel of tongues as to what logic is about. The different schools, the traditional, the linguistic, the psychological, the epistemological, and the mathematical, speak different languages, and each regards the other as not really dealing with logic at all. No task is perhaps so thankless, or invites so much abuse from all quarters, as that of the mediator between hostile points of view. Nor is the traditional distrust of the peacemaker in the intellectual realm difficult to appreciate, since he so often substitutes an unclear and inconsistent amalgam for points of view which at least have the merit of a certain clarity. And yet no task is so essential, especially for the beginner, when it is undertaken with the objective of adjusting and supplementing the claims of the contending parties, and when it is accompanied by a refusal to sacrifice clarity and rigor in thought. In so far as an elementary text permits such a thing, the present text seeks to bring some order into the confusion of tongues concerning the subject matter of logic. But the resolution of the conflicts between various schools which it effects appears in the selection and presentation of material, and not in extensive polemics against any school. The book has been written with the conviction that logic is the autonomous science of the objective though formal conditions of valid inference. At the same time, its authors believe that the aridity which is (not always unjustly) attributed to the study of logic testifies to the unimaginative way logical principles have been taught and misused. The present text aims to combine sound logical doctrine with sound pedagogy, and to provide illustrative material suggestive of the rôle of logic in every department of thought. A text that would find a place for the realistic formalism of Aristotle, the scientific penetration of Peirce, the pedagogical soundness of Dewey, and the mathematical rigor of Russell—this was the ideal constantly present to the authors of this book.

ask and it is given cards: Getting In the Gap Dr. Wayne W. Dyer, 2002-12-03 The practice of meditation takes us on a fabulous journey into the gap between our thoughts, where all the advantages of a more peaceful, stress-free, healthy, and fatigue-free life are available, but which are simply side benefits. The paramount reason for daily meditation is to get into the gap between our thoughts, and make conscious contact with the creative energy of life itself. Dr. Wayne W. Dyer explains the soul-nourishing meditation technique for making conscious contact with God, which the ancient masters have told us about. You have the potential to be an instrument of the highest good for all concerned and to be a literal miracle worker in your own life. No person, government, or religion can legitimately claim to do this for you. In fact, says Dr. Dyer, I agree with Carl Jung who said, 'One of the main functions of formalized religion is to protect people against a direct experience of God.' When you master getting into the gap and staying there for prolonged segments of meditation, and experience what you bring back to the material world, you will know your answer to the question: Why meditate?
