heavenly sword and dragon saber: Tony Leung Chiu-Wai Mark Gallagher, 2019-07-25 Tony Leung Chiu-Wai investigates the rich, prolific career of an acclaimed leading man of Hong Kong and Chinese film and television: the star of more than 70 films and dozens of television series, and the only Hong Kong actor to earn the Cannes Film Festival's best-actor award. This book addresses the dynamics of media stardom in Hong Kong, mainland China and the East Asian region, including the importance of television series for training and promotion; the phenomenon of regional, transmedia stardom across popular entertainment genres; and cultural and political considerations as performers move among different East Asian production environments. Attentive to Leung's position in both East Asian and global screen cultures, the book addresses relations among acting, global stardom and internationally circulating film genres and acclaimed directors. Overall, this unique study of Leung - who the New York Times calls "one of the world's last true matinee idols" - illuminates challenges and opportunities for Chinese screen actors in local, regional and global cultural and industrial contexts.

heavenly sword and dragon saber: Wong Kar-wai Silver Wai-ming Lee, Micky Lee, 2017-08-07 Fans and critics alike perceive Wong Kar-wai (b. 1958) as an enigma. His dark glasses, his nonlinear narrations, and his high expectations for actors all contribute to an assumption that he only makes art for a few high-brow critics. However, Wong's interviews show this Hong Kong auteur is candid about the art of filmmaking, even surprising his interlocutors by suggesting his films are commercial and made for a popular audience. Wong's achievements nevertheless feel like art-house cinema. His third film, Chungking Express, introduced him to a global audience captivated by the quick and quirky editing style. His Cannes award-winning films Happy Together and In the Mood for Love confirmed an audience beyond the greater Chinese market. His latest film, The Grandmaster, depicts the life of a kung fu master by breaking away from the martial arts genre. In each of these films, Wong Kar-wai's signature style—experimental, emotive, character-driven, and timeless—remains apparent throughout. This volume includes interviews that appear in English for the first time, including some that appeared in Hong Kong magazines now out of print. The interviews cover every feature film from Wong's debut As Tears Go By to his 2013 The Grandmaster.

heavenly sword and dragon saber: COUNTERATTACK BULLET SHIELD CHAPTER 03 Huu Khanh, 2025-08-04 COUNTERATTACK BULLET SHIELD CHAPTER 03 After the morning, Bai He also had a calculation in her heart, she thought about it and estimated that there were still about forty to fifty catties of meat left, which was brought over early in the morning and used to make the filling for the cakes. She had only used about five or six catties, and she didn't know if there would be enough by noon. On the contrary, there were chickens and ducks, but no fish. She thought that if there wasn't enough then she would let Ying'er go out and take a look. In her heart, she calculated that the father and son would quickly go to the back to chop vegetables, wash dishes, and cook rice, and would only arrive at noon. Unlike Bai He's expectations, the food she made was extremely delicious, with a heavenly taste(1), the key was that the price was not too expensive, the price of the small tavern was much better than the food of the big tavern, the reputation gradually spread, every day there were a little more customers, Wu Da Lang only stayed in the tavern as a waiter, his daughter Wu Ying'er collected the money, leaving Bai He alone in the kitchen to cook, sometimes Wu Da Lang wanted to help her but she was not allowed to do it, her martial arts were also quite good, although she looked weak on the outside, but in fact she was better at carrying pots and water than Wu Da Lang, just like that the reputation of the Wu family's Immortal Pavilion spread far and wide.
