Origins and History of The Night Before Christmas Book

Historical Background

"The Night Before Christmas" is a poem that was first published anonymously in 1823 and later attributed to Clement Clarke Moore, a professor of theology and poetry. The poem was initially titled "A Visit from St. Nicholas" and appeared in the Troy Sentinel newspaper. Moore's vivid description of Santa Claus as a jolly, rotund figure with a sleigh pulled by reindeer revolutionized the way Americans envisioned Santa.

Evolution into a Classic

Over the years, "The Night Before Christmas" has been adapted into countless editions, illustrated versions, and even musical interpretations. Its rhythmic, rhyming structure and vivid imagery made it an instant favorite among children and adults alike. The story's portrayal of Santa as a cheerful, plump man delivering gifts in a sleigh has become the archetype for Santa Claus in popular culture.

The poem, which has been called arguably the best-known verses ever written by an American, is largely responsible for some of the conceptions of Santa Claus from the mid-nineteenth century to today. Prior to the poem, American ideas about St. Nicholas and other Christmastide visitors varied considerably. On Christmas Eve night, while his wife and children sleep, a man awakens to noises outside his house. Looking out the window, he sees St. Nicholas in an air-borne sleigh pulled by eight reindeer. After landing his sleigh on the roof, the saint enters the house through the chimney, carrying a sack of toys with him. The man watches Nicholas filling the children's Christmas stockings hanging by the fire, and laughs to himself. They share a conspiratorial moment before the saint bounds up the chimney again. As he flies away, Saint Nicholas wishes everyone a Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good night. Clement Clarke Moore (1779 - 1863) was an American Professor of Oriental and Greek Literature, as well as Divinity and Biblical Learning, at the General Theological Seminary of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Located on land donated by the Bard of Chelsea himself, the seminary still stands today on Ninth Avenue between 20th and 21st Streets, in an area known as Chelsea Square. Moore's connection with that institution continued for over twenty-five years. He is the author of the yuletide poem A Visit from St. Nicholas, which later became famous as 'Twas the Night Before Christmas.
