What Is the Igora Schwarzkopf Color Chart?

The Igora Schwarzkopf color chart is a visual and informational tool that displays all the available shades and tones in the Igora range. It functions as a color mapping system, illustrating the relationships between different shades, their underlying tones, and how they can be combined or layered to achieve specific results. Structure of the Igora Schwarzkopf Color Chart

Color Families and Categories

The chart is organized into several main categories, each representing a broad color family:

- Blondes: Ranging from icy blondes to warm golden shades.
- Brunettes: Including light to dark browns with various undertones.
- Red Shades: Covering copper, auburn, and fiery reds.
- Vibrant Fashion Colors: Bright, unconventional hues like blue, purple, green, and pink.
- Special Effects and Highlights: Including shades for toning, glossing, and creative effects.

Each category features subcategories based on depth (light, medium, dark) and undertones (cool, warm, neutral).

Color Coding and Tones

The chart employs a color coding system to indicate undertones and tonal effects:

- Warm Tones: Indicated with a red or orange hue, emphasizing golden, copper, or caramel shades.
- Cool Tones: Displayed with a blue or violet hue, representing ash, icy, or platinum shades.
- Neutral Tones: Shown in a balanced tone without dominant warm or cool undertones.
- Vibrant Colors: Bright, bold shades like pink, violet, or turquoise are often marked with vivid icons or labels.

This coding helps users quickly identify the tonal qualities of each shade and select the right one for their desired look.

How to Read and Use the Igora Schwarzkopf Color Chart

Understanding the Shade Codes

Each shade on the chart is assigned a code that typically combines numbers and letters, providing information about its characteristics:

- Numbering System: Usually, the first digit indicates the depth or level of the color (1 being darkest, 10 being lightest).
- Letter Codes: Letters specify the tone or undertone, such as:
 - A: Ash
 - C: Copper
 - N: Neutral
 - G: Gold
 - V: Violet
 - R: Red

For example, a shade code like 7A signifies a medium blonde with ash undertones.

Interpreting the Chart for Color Formulation

To achieve a specific hair color, professionals combine shades with different codes, considering the following:

- Desired Depth: Choose the appropriate level (e.g., 6 for dark blonde).
- Undertone Preference: Select warm, cool, or neutral tones based on skin tone and personal preference.
