behan ko: Being Janana Ila Nagar, 2019-09-17 Being Janana focuses on same-sex desiring male-bodied subjects in Lucknow, India, and explores how they make meaning in the marginalization of their desire through language performativity. Along with their desire for other men, jananas maintain ostensibly heteronormatively and culturally defined masculine positions. This book argues for an intersectional approach to understanding janana life worlds and situates janana subjectivity in dialogue with social, cultural, linguistic, and legal happenings. In engaging with the full complexity of janana identities and experience, Ila Nagar calls for a reassessment of gender categories and a new understanding of power and sexuality amidst emerging Indian modernities. Derived from ethnographic research conducted over a period of twelve years, this book also reflects on the interaction between social actors and researchers, and critically examines the use of ethnography as a method in sociolinguistics and linguistic anthropology. It will be of interest to scholars from Anthropology, Asian Studies, Gender & Sexuality Studies, and Linguistics.

behan ko: The Truth Machines Jinee Lokaneeta, 2020-02-26 Using case studies and the results of extensive fieldwork, this book considers the nature of state power and legal violence in liberal democracies by focusing on the interaction between law, science, and policing in India. The postcolonial Indian police have often been accused of using torture in both routine and exceptional criminal cases, but they, and forensic psychologists, have claimed that lie detectors, brain scans, and narcoanalysis (the use of "truth serum," Sodium Pentothal) represent a paradigm shift away from physical torture; most state high courts in India have upheld this rationale. The Truth Machines examines the emergence and use of these three scientific techniques to analyze two primary themes. First, the book questions whether existing theoretical frameworks for understanding state power and legal violence are adequate to explain constant innovations of the state. Second, it explores the workings of law, science, and policing in the everyday context to generate a theory of state power and legal violence, challenging the monolithic frameworks about this relationship, based on a study of both state and non-state actors. Jinee Lokaneeta argues that the attempt to replace physical torture with truth machines in India fails because it relies on a confessional paradigm that is contiguous with torture. Her work also provides insights into a police institution that is founded and refounded in its everyday interactions between state and non-state actors. Theorizing a concept of Contingent State, this book demonstrates the disaggregated, and decentered nature of state power and legal violence, creating possible sites of critique and intervention.

The Poetician is a cheeky, colloquial, social, in the face satire about the lives we live in contemporary times. Every poetry is a story; unification of past with present and amalgamation of a skeptical future. The title 'Practical vs Theory' makes you realize what a fool this education system had made out of you. 'Cheekhta-Chillata Shehar' is a blunt satire on an un-environmentally friendly city. 'Foodie-Mere ped ki dastaan' will leave you with a humorous

'Manto' and 'Munshi ji' are odes to the legends. 'Best friends forever' deals with the dark world of teenage issues and friendship. 'Jahaalat' translates the crassness of modern young society. 'Parchaiyan' is my arrogant, angry battle with life. 'Bachche Zinda hain' is a raw, compelling, naked truth about how we treat the young citizens of this country. I would say just read and then decide if you found yourself or not.
