The use of PPE is often mandated by safety regulations in many industries, including construction, healthcare, and manufacturing.

Key Types of Personal Protective Equipment

PPE can be classified into several categories based on the type of protection offered:

- Head Protection: Hard hats and helmets to prevent head injuries from falling objects.
- Eye and Face Protection: Safety goggles, face shields, and safety glasses to shield against flying debris, chemicals, and harmful radiation.
- Hearing Protection: Earplugs and earmuffs designed to protect against loud noises that can cause hearing loss.
- Respiratory Protection: Masks and respirators to filter out harmful airborne particles or gases.
- Hand Protection: Gloves made from various materials to protect against chemicals, cuts, and abrasions.
